THE YEAR WITHOUT A SUMMER

Scientists of France, Canada, and Britain, Sweden and the United States are giving warnings of a summer year in 1926-27. That these warnings are regarded seriously is evidenced by the interest of a number of distinguished statisticians than Roger Babson, who includes them in a special bulletin.

These statisticians have their belief in the summerless year on a study of climatic history. They say that the weather on the earth goes through a definite cycle in relation to the other heavenly bodies that influence its temperature. Other summerless years have been 265, 1550, 1740 and 1816. Crop failures, due to unusual frigidities, have been common, famines, plagues and wars in these years.

One meteorologist, Professor Sernander, of Sweden, goes so far as to assume the probability that the next summerless year will be approaching and that great climatic changes are pending.

Man is still a stranger on this earth. Of the 400,000,000 or more years the earth has been in existence, man has only been present probably a few 200,000. He is not yet acquainted with his home. His knowledge of climate, of the temperature have only been guessed at by him. He is still a pioneer in the universe, an explorer in the islands of eternity.

The human race has been given this earth as a test-book. To read its past, interpret its present and intelligently forecast its future are the tasks by which human mentality is to be expanded and enriched.

The "wonders of nature" are the educators of mankind. And the year 1925, we have heard, is not beyond the province. We are still in the kindergarten of the Almighty's school.

PAYMENTS FOR JOB PRINTING UNDER PROBE AT EDMONTON.

Edmonton, Dec. 8.—How the Cameron Job Press occurred, in five years, enough business, principally from the Alberta government, to make a profit of $18,000, while adding $3,700 to plant assets, and how many of the jobs covered by these profits were done at prices considerably in excess of what other printers figured were fair and profitable prices, was shown Tuesday afternoon, in the closing hours of the commission investigation being conducted by Judge Walsh, into the printing methods of the former Liberal government of Alberta.

Two expert printers, J. D. McArthur, of Calgary, and Elmer Roper, of Edmonton, gave prices estimated as fair and proper with reasonable profits added for a number of jobs. J. Robertson, assistant provincial auditor, gave actual prices paid for these jobs from the Cameron Job Press.

Comparative figures are as follows:—On 10,000 copies, office communication, School Ordinances for 1919; McArthur estimate, $1,810; Roper estimate, $1,545; paid Cameron Job Press, $1,572.

On 11,200 of the 1920 Consolidated School Ordinances; McArthur estimate, $3,461; Roper estimate, $3,100; paid Cameron Job Press, $6,546.

On 10,000 amendments to ordinances; McArthur estimate, $3,229; Roper estimate, $3,113; paid Cameron Job Press, $4,476.

Edmonton, Dec. 8.—Action will likely be taken at once, it is learned from the government offices, to proceed in a prosecution against George P. Smith. The disclosures already made in the hearing of the false invoice case are considered sufficiently definite and serious to warrant proceedings of this character and it is expected that the steps will be taken accordingly through the attorney general's department. Mr. Smith's whereabouts are known and no difficulty is anticipated on this score.

Similar proceedings will possibly be taken against other individuals in the case.

MACLEOD BOARD OF TRADE MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Next week a drive for Board of Trade members will be arranged by the Executive and canvassers will cover the town for new members for 1926. In order for the board of trade to carry on for the coming year it must have the support of the citizens and as the work of our board of trade has been an asset to the community and is a worth-while organization your support should be given. In order to facilitate the work of the canvassers the tellers of the Royal Bank of Canada and the Canadian Bank of Commerce will take your membership. The fee for town members is $2.00. The past year showed a very small country membership and it is hoped the farmers will more readily become members for next year, as the yearly membership is only $1 for farmers and the board of trade is endeavoring to look after the farming interests as well. Just put a dollar bill in an envelope and address it to Mr. O. J. Wood, the treasurer and your membership card will be forwarded, or if you are in town obtain same from the banks.

RATHWELL

The young people of the district are preparing to celebrate Xmas in an appropriate manner. From all I can gather the entertainment to be put on will be highly amusing.

The heavy winds have been severe on the summer fallowed fields and much drifting of the soil has taken place. In an endeavor to overcome this some farmers have resorted to a late use of the cultivator but the results have not been up to expectations.

The Rathwell Ladies' Aid held their annual bazaar in the school house on the evening of Friday, the 4th inst. There was a good attendance, the handsome sum of $511 being realized. The raffie for a ball number 26, Mrs. Jensen, of Lundbreck. Refreshments were served, after which a dance followed, the music of an exceptionally high order being provided by Mrs. Jensen, violin, and Mrs. Huntley, organ.

Mrs. C. R. Johnson and Mrs. A. Johnson were spending the Xmas season with relatives across the river.

Threshing operations for the season have come to an end. The discharged and the machines laid away for another year. Much of the grain threshed this season graded for which is no wonder when it is considered how much rain and snow fell during the season's work. The upward tendency of the grain market, however, will compensate for the loss in grade cravers in all this, however, larger cheques than paid out last season. It is a hard cloud that has no silver lining.

Members of the wheat pool are receiving their initial cheques for the season of 1925. Do they appear to know what to do with them? We'll say they die.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead? Who never to himself has said: 'Till pay before I go to bed? The bill I owe the printer? Yes, there was one we knew full well, But he, alas, the truth to tell, Is dead, and straightaway went to—well.

The place that has no winter?

Land of opportunity! If he can't write insurance and his wife won't keep boarders, he can get elected to some office.

A CONSCIENTIOUS YOUNGSTER

At the time of the Jubilee, a number of Macleod's young girls banded together under the Starlet and Gold eventually built a road from the mainland to the Island, set up a six large swings and a Maypole

The meeting was called to order by J. W. McDonald, K.C. president of the Macleod constituency Liberal Association. The call was read by Hugh Macintosh, secretary. Mr.
McDonald, in his address, stated that in contemplation of a possible redistribution he had found it advisable to call a meeting to the people the man who would be named at this time would naturally be one of the best men in the constituency. He stated that the alteration in the boundaries of the constituency would be a great disadvantage to the people of the constituency. He stated that he had been in the constituency for a long time and he had seen the people of the constituency in a state of distress. He stated that he had had a representative group, including viewpoint of all interests in the country, which was last ideal con-

Turning to redistribution, he said the policy of the government was still very much in doubt. He disliked the way the special committee was functioning. The Liberals had of seats in the constituency. He in the Farmer ranks, however, and the whole program as to the nearreform was chaotic. He asked the government for the following

mer. They had nothing ready to present to the house, waiting public and the time of the house time that might have been used in discussing redistribution.

The province had just been treated to the spectacle of a party caucus throwing overboard the premier.

changing prime ministers was

The Presbytery of Calgary met in Grace Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, Dec. 8th, at 10 a.m. The regular routine business of the quarterly meeting was taken up and consideration of the decision of the Assembly's committee of $11,000 for the budget next year, 1926, was heartily taken up and responded to by the various congregations. A large representation was present. The representatives of the congregation heartily agreed to take their responsibility in this most important work. Congregations are increasing in numbers, many returning to the "old fold." New congregations are being established at High River, Cayley and Granum. It is hoped that "we" long a new congregation will be established at Clearholm and various other points where the people desire the Presbyterian service. The members of Presbytery were greatly cheered by the spirit of hopefulness that animates the varied congregations and missions. It is expected that we long the Presbyterian church will easily regain its former strength.
